The American Numismatic Association

The American Numismatic Association, an educational and nonprofit organization, is the largest and most active numismatic body in the world. It invites and welcomes to membership all worthy persons eleven years of age or over, who have a sincere interest in numismatics, whether they collect coins, paper money, tokens or medals, whether advanced collectors or only those generally interested in the subject without being collectors. The Association was founded in 1891, and has about 27,000 members from every state in the Union and many foreign countries. It was chartered for fifty years by Act of Congress May 9, 1912; renewed in perpetuity by Act of Congress April 10, 1962 and is a mutual organization for the benefit of its members.

All Association members, except Associate, receive the official publication, The Numismatist, without cost other than their annual dues. Membership applications should be accompanied by $11.00 to cover admittance fee and the first year's dues. Succeeding annual dues are $6.00. Non-member subscriptions, $7.50 per year or three years for $20.00. Single copy 75¢. For application blanks or other information, write to Executive Director, P. O. Box 2366, Colorado Springs, Colo. 80901.

The Numismatist is an illustrated monthly which has been issued continuously since its founding in 1888, consists of 128 pages or more in each number with subscribers in about sixty countries. Advertising inquiries should be sent to the Advertising Manager. All other matters for possible publication in or concerning The Numismatist are to be forwarded to the Editor. Darlehnskasse und Darlehnskassenschein

(The German Loan Bureau and Its Note Issues — 1914-1923)

by Richard A. Banyai, ANA 51779

The World War I period of finance from the viewpoint of the monetary historian is one of the most significant periods in the history of paper money experiments. During this era many nations resorted to "excessive" issues of paper currency to finance their commerce and military operations.

Germany was one of the nations of Europe that had issued during and immediately after the war a variety of paper currencies to finance itself both internally and externally. The notes of the Reichsbank, the Imperial Treasury (Reichskassen), the Imperial Loan Banks (Darlehnskassen), and several private banks were circulating.

This paper is a compendium of notes on the Darlehnskassen that the writer has organized over a period of years.

The Darlehnskassen or Imperial Loan Bureau was a most important part of the German banking system during this crucial period of German monetary history. Unfortunately there is a relative scarcity of materials available on the history and operation of this financial institution. It is this deficiency that the writer hopes to correct by this small contribution to the literature of money.

II

From the beginning to the end of the armed conflict in Europe, the German financial authorities in the government and Reichsbank had helped to facilitate commerce and military operations by the careful formulation of plans for the creation and utilization of paper currency.

One institution in particular was most important to the smooth functioning of the German economy during and immediately after the war period. This was the Imperial Loan Bureau or Darlehnskassen. These credit institutions had their origin in Prussia in 1848 and were reestablished during the armed conflicts of 1866 and 1870. At the beginning of the war in 1914, they were once again placed in operation. They had proved in the past to be most effective financial institutions.

In order to relieve the Reichsbank and joint stock banks, it was considered essential to recreate this Imperial Loan Bureau to extend credit against collateral security. Their purpose was to supply easy credit by making loans on securities or merchants stocks thus relieving some of the pressure mainly on the Reichsbank in time of heavy demands for loans.

The Imperial Loan Bureau was under the control of the Reichsbank and had a general administrative board in Berlin and a board of directors for each branch bureau to which a representative was appointed by the Chancellor. The imperial representative had the power to fix the amount of loans on various securities and to decide what loans may be granted. It was originally planned to utilize the profits from the loans to redeem the notes which were to be retired after the close of the war.

The loan bureau made advances to merchants, manufacturers, banks, savings banks, cooperative credit associations, and finally to individuals. They soon came to be the principal source of credit for all classes of borrowers, including the banks themselves and even the cities and separate states, which had been forbidden to make appeal to the public savings in competition with the imperial loans.

The rate of interest charged on loans was from 6 to 6½%. The loans were for three to six months with privilege of renewal.

Below is a list of five classes of collateral allowed:

1. On obligations of the empire or of a German state, if registered with the department of public accounts, loans could be made from 70 to 75% of the quotations on July 25, 1914. If the borrower should be unable to repay the loan, or interest, when due, the loan bureau could sell the collateral without recourse to the courts.

2. On local loans and stock in land and mortgage banks, and other trustee stocks quoted in the official list, to 70%.
3. On the trustee stocks, non-trustee stocks quoted in the official list, and so-called home ultimopapiere¹, having a fixed return, at 60%.
4. On foreign ultimopapiere, 50%.
5. On other securities with a varying rate of return, and non-perishable merchandise, 40% or more. The goods pledged may be agricultural, mineral, or industrial products located within the empire, and, although stamped with a government seal, they are left in the hands of the owners.

Having as their purpose to mobilize a large part of the invested wealth of the country by coining it into a means of payment, they gave the public the power to meet their obligations in money, at a time when the normal kinds of money were scarce and goods were not easily salable.

The leading idea was to strengthen as far as possible the position of the Reichsbank for the financial needs of the government. To accomplish this end, business had to be given an opportunity to satisfy its demands for credit elsewhere. Though the joint stock banks would unquestionably have come to the assistance of their clientele in time of war, it was nevertheless deemed advisable to establish another organization with the sole object of meeting, in case of emergency, the urgent demands for credit. It was the loan bureau that supplied the credit needs of every agency except the Imperial Government. To the government's exclusive service, the Reichsbank devoted itself.

Darlehnskassenschein (Loan Bureau Certificate)

Obverse-Reverse: Two marks and five marks issued August 12, 1914, in Berlin by authority of the Reichsschuldenverwaltung (The Administration of the Imperial Debt). The Act of August 4, 1914, provided for the issuing of a maximum amount of these loan bureau notes of 1,500,000,000 marks. An amendment to this act (November 11, 1914) increased the amount to 3,000,000,000 marks. For the text of this most important act refer to the appendix in section V.

The Darlehnskassen were established in all cities in which the Reichsbank maintained a branch office and where there appeared to be a need for the facilities. Eventually over ninety offices were in operation.

The loan bureau made their loans through the issue of their own notes (Darlehnskassenschein). In character these notes were similar to the Imperial Treasury notes (Reichskassenschein) which were in existence in moderate amount before and during the war but which were not relied upon for war financing.

The business of the Darlehnskassen operated in the following manner: they obtained bank notes from the Reichsbank against the issue of Darlehnskassenschein which were fully secured by the accepted security. On the strength of the Dar-

Reichskassenschein (Imperial Treasury Notes)

Obverse-Reverse: Five marks, ten marks issued in Berlin by authority of the Administration of the Imperial Debt (Reichsschuldenverwaltung). These certificates were the only paper money issued by the German Empire. They were created by a law passed April 30, 1874, when the maximum amount was fixed at 120,000,000 marks. July 3, 1913, an additional 120,000,000 marks were issued. March 22, 1915, a new bill was passed providing for the issue of a further 120,000,000 marks. The new issue was to be entirely covered either by Darlehnskassenscheine or by currency.

lehnskassenschein, the Reichsbank was enabled to put into circulation three times the amount of its own notes. Legally the Darlehnskassenschein were classified as cash; and since the Reichsbank needed only a one-third cover of cash for its notes, it could use Darlehnskassenschein for backing, and for each mark of loan bureau note issued in its reserves, the Reichsbank could issue three marks of its own notes.

As an example of the loan bureau operation, one would place with the bureau collateral worth, say, 1,000 marks, the bureau would issue perhaps 800 marks or 80% of the collateral's value. The bureau would then take the 800 marks Darlehnskassenschein and deliver them to the Reichsbank in return for which the bureau received 800 marks in Reichsbank notes and would give them to the borrower.

The denominations of the Darlehnskassenschein were 1, 2, 5, 10, 20, and 50 marks. While the smaller denominations generally circulated, the larger ones were chiefly held by the Reichsbank. The smaller issues such as one and two marks circulated due to a shortage of fractional coins.

The Darlehnskassenschein neither became lawful money nor were they declared legal tender.² However, the fact that the notes were receivable at their face value at all public offices of the empire and the federated states assured their circulation. The Reichsbank was authorized to include them in its legal cash reserves. Thereby it was intended to assume the possibility of extending the Reichsbank's issue power, in case its gold reserve should prove insufficient cover for its note circulation. At this point, it is necessary to briefly elaborate on the operation of the Reichsbank.

The Reichsbank, in accordance with the historical function of a great central bank of issue, had always been regarded as an institution whose very purpose was to serve the country in time of war. In order to accomplish this important task, it was necessary to place the Reichsbank in a position to cope with the extraordinary requirements. In section 17 of the German Bank Law of March 1875 (translated below), it had been provided that the Reichsbank must keep as security against its circulating notes one-third in cash and two-thirds in short-term bills of exchange bearing at least two names (double name paper).

"§ 17. The Reichsbank is obliged to hold in its vaults as cover at least one-third of the amount of its notes outstanding in current German money, Imperial Treasury notes (Reichskassenschein), gold bars or foreign coins, reckoned at 1,392 marks to the pound; and to hold as cover for the rest discounted bills of exchange which have a maturity of not over three months, and for which as a rule three, or at the least two, persons of known solvency are guarantors."

In order to enable the Reichsbank to grant extensive credits to the Empire, this provision was changed. The Reichsbank received the permission to discount Treasury bills which matured not later than three months; and it was provided that the bank should be at liberty to consider, in addition to double name paper, such short-term obligations of the Empire and Imperial Treasury bills as security within the meaning of section 17.

Below is a section of the act which altered the Bank Act of 1875.

"§ 3. Obligations of the Empire which are payable at par within three months hold the same position, in the meaning of §17 of the Bank Act, as the aforesaid bills of exchange."

This important legislation not only aided the government's war financing operations but was to reveal itself after the war when the government relied mainly upon the Reichsbank for funds to finance its operations.

The people were urged to borrow freely of the Darlehnskassen in order to subscribe to the war loans. Even ²In Europe at the time the term "lawful money" implied the unit standard, — either the unit standard coin, or government notes, or bank notes not convertible into coin, according to the respective monetary legislation. The term "legal tender" applied only to such government notes or bank notes as have been declared by law to be instruments of payment, but which are upon demand redeemable in gold.

Reichsbanknote (German Central Bank Notes)

Obverse-Reverse: One hundred marks, one thousand marks issued in Berlin by authority of § section 16 of the German Bank Act of March 14, 1875: § Sec. 16. The Reichsbank has the right to issue bank-notes according to the needs of its business. (Fabrication, emission, withdrawal and destruction of the notes are under the Imperial Debt Commission of the Empire.)

more strongly was the operation urged as a patriotic duty. Credit could be obtained on a great variety of securities without the necessity of suffering the heavy loss involved in sale upon the disorganized stock market.

The loan bureaus could issue their notes virtually without limit as to amount of cash reserve. As mentioned above, a large part of their notes was not issued to their customers at all but exchanged in advance with the Reichsbank for the notes of the Reichsbank which in turn went into circulation.

Since granting loans on the part of the Darlehnskassen implied automatically an increase in the circulation of Reichsbank notes, the loan banks, in their desire to prevent a dangerous depreciation of the paper currency, granted loans solely in cases where the real value of the security offered was commensurate with the amount applied for.

The loans were carefully made at first accepting generally marketable goods and merchandise of probably lasting value including the collateral listed above. The borrowers were liable to the Darlehnskassen with their entire property for the repayment of the loans. The Darlehnskassen Obverse-Reverse: One-half mark and two mark notes of April 4, 1918, and fifty kopek and one ruble notes of April 17, 1916. These notes were issued by the Loan Bureau of the East for circulation in the occupied areas of the Polish-Russian territory.

sen as a matter of principle granted loans only to reliable firms or entities deserving credit. Thus, at first, the intrinsic value of the Darlehnskassenschein could hardly be doubted.

Supplementary to the loan bureaus there were municipal loan bureaus "Stadtische Darlehnskassen," established by municipalities, which made loans to small retailers and hand workers through their cooperative associations, from three to twelve months, at a higher rate of interest than charged by the state institutions. Loans were granted on assets satisfactory to a credit board made up of city officials.

III

As mentioned in section II, the German people were urged to subscribe to the war loans issues and were also urged to borrow freely from the Darlehnskassen to pay for the securities.

Below is a table of the first six war loans.

¹The Seventh war loan, Sept. 1917, was offered in two forms, on the same terms as in the Sixth loan. The lists closed Oct. 18, when the total subscriptions are reported to have been $3,108,000,000. The subscriptions to the Eighth loan amounted to $3,625,000,000 March 1918, and subscriptions to the Ninth loan $2,608,489,925 Sept. 1918.

According to Laughlin, only 17.4% of the subscriptions to the first loan were paid for with notes of the loan bureaus (Darlehnskassenschein), 5.7% of the second loan, 6.4% of the third loan and 6% of the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh loans.

The following table shows the issues of loan bureau notes relative to other issues during the period of war finance, 1914-19.

As a suitable conclusion to this brief paper, below are a few comments regarding the applicability of monetary history and theory to the various paper currency issues in Germany during the World War period with emphasis on the Darlehnskassenschein.

For a number of years up to the World War, many national currencies were gold. That is, the monetary standard was a gold standard and the values of the currencies linked to gold. Paper notes convertible into gold coin were receipts for a specific sum of gold coin. The Russian ruble, Japanese yen, German mark, and U. S. dollar were defined as so many grains of gold, so many tenths fine and the individual who held a twenty ruble note or twenty yen note or fifty mark note or even a twenty dollar certificate actually held a claim which during a period of economic stability was as "good as gold."

In times of financial or political uncertainty those who held a redeemable paper note could exchange it for gold coin. Thus something of value was held in the form of the universally accepted metal that was accepted without hesitation for the payment of debts and the purchase of the necessities of life.

On the other hand, inconvertible paper currency was looked upon as an artificial means of payment to be tolerated until a more "substantial" medium could be once again utilized as true money, this, of course, being gold.

Although apparently governments had forgotten the lessons of the past, the people had not forgotten the severe price distortions and social unrest due to paper currency inflation. It was this past experience with inconvertible notes that led people to distrust paper and to demand gold whenever possible because of its universal acceptance and "intrinsic value." The following quotation is appropriate at this stage:

"When it is a question of money, everybody is of the same religion."

— Voltaire

Money was understood to have three main functions:

- (1) Unit of Account (mark, yen, dollar, pound)
- (2) Medium of Exchange (paper currency and/or coin)
- (3) Store of Value (can be held for a period of time with no fear of loss of "purchasing power")

The gold money served all three functions but the inconvertible paper notes served only the first two functions. Although for short periods of time the paper notes did have the third property of a store of value, it was not a stable value and it did fluctuate on the market. At times only after hesitation would the paper notes be accepted and then at perhaps a discount from face value but once the notes were convertible into gold their value once again ceased fluctuating on the market and became "as good as gold."

When Germany entered the World War and suspended gold payments, it resorted to "excessive" quantities of paper currency to finance its internal commerce and the military machine. The people at first were concerned about this turn of events from a currency convertible into gold to one inconvertible. Social learning is a slow process, and when a people have been conditioned over a period of time to receive gold in return for a certificate and when this freedom is abruptly taken away, it is difficult at first to accept the new type of money as equivalent to the previous type.

The previous money (gold) had durability, portability, and the trust of the people who saved and spent it. It had proved itself over time to be an ideal medium of payment. But after the issuance of the various inconvertible notes of the Reichsbank, Treasury, loan bureau, there was no universally acceptable backing for the paper notes except the promises of the financial authorities and the "wealth" of the nation. This particular state of affairs might have been acceptable to some people during a time of political and financial stability but during a period of uncertainty and war the people desire something which will function as a store of value and will be accepted without hesitation for payment of debts and purchase of goods and services.

The paper currency circulating in Germany during and immediately after the war was to a large degree mistrusted even though it did settle debts and procure the necessities of life. It did these things but at an increasing cost to the consumer who held the depreciating notes. The psychology of the situation was such that the paper notes circulated very rapidly while the quantity was constantly being increased and injected into the economy. The consumer had learned that the "excessive" quantities of paper notes would not help the price situation so they were spent as soon as possible lest the consumer get caught with a monetary unit of less purchasing power in the near future. It was this negative psychology which helped elicit the general price level increases and it was this psychology of expectations that was reinforced by the increasing quantity of paper currency in circulation. This type of inflationary situation eventually snowballed into a pathological state until finally during 1923-24 the currency was stabilized by returning to a gold base.

The American economist Professor James Laurence Laughlin put forth the theory that it is not so much the increased quantity of money relative to economic production that helps elicit a rise in the general price level but rather the lack of convertibility of paper notes in gold. That is, notes not convertible into gold would depreciate rapidly whereas notes convertible into gold no matter what the quantity would keep their value and not depreciate. The English economist David Ricardo theorized that it is not the convertibility of paper notes which keeps their value equal to that of coin but it is the limitation of their quantity. A paper currency, if its quantity is kept within sufficiently narrow limits, will be as stable in value as convertible notes.

A synthesis of the two theories above would be applicable to an economy of stability. That is, a carefully regulated supply of paper money and credit to correspond with the needs of commerce and also at the same time a carefully planned convertibility of the media of exchange into a gold or silver money. However, in the case of Germany a quantity approach to the value of money was applicable to the price situation during and after the war. That is, the quantity of money in circulation was a major causative factor in the serious price distortions at the time. It is during such pathological states that the quantity theory of money is generally applicable. (The quantity theory of money applicable during the early part of this century postulated that "all things remaining equal, an increase in the quantity of money in circulation would cause a proportionate increase in the price level.") It is the writer's belief that even if the Reichsbank, Treasury and loan bureau had issued gold coin in the place of the paper notes there still would have been inflation of the price level due to the magnitude of money in circulation relative to the small amount of marketable commodities available. However, the price distortions would probably not have been as severe with gold as they were with paper due to the fact that gold would more than likely have been hoarded in quantity due to its desirability. If a large enough amount of gold would be hoarded there would not be enough of the media of payment to sustain the rather large price increases and prices would have dropped somewhat to accommodate that part of the gold money media in circulation. This also applies to both paper money and bank credit convertible into gold. But the fact is that it was paper money and bank credit at the time with no gold backing that fuelled the flames of the inflationary spiral and reinforced the dismal expectations of the people as to the future stability of both the currency and price level.

Below is reproduced a wholesale price index for Germany for the years 1913 to 1922 using 1913 as base 100:

1913	100
1914	105
1915	142
1916	152
1917	179
1918	217

1919	415
1920	1,486
1921	1,911
1922	34,182

The Darlehnskassenschein were credit money which augmented the general supply of money. The Reichsbank was authorized to expand its note circulation by three marks for every one mark of Darlehnskassenschein. That is, for every Darlehnskassen mark note held in reserve as backing for the Reichsbank notes, the Reichsbank could expand its own note circulation by three marks, thus further augmenting the already swollen money supply.

The Darlehnskassen indeed was a most unique institution and a most important one for the financing of commerce in Germany during the war. The Darlehnskassen East was also most important to the financing of the commerce of the occupied areas of Russian-Polish territory during the war.

The appendix to this section contains the text of the Darlehnskassen Act of 1914. The reader would profit from a reading of this document.

DARLEHNSKASSEN ACT

AUGUST 4, 1914

§ Section 1. In Berlin and those places within the Empire, in which there is a branch or agency of the Reichsbank, shall be established where-ever necessary, on the order of the Imperial Chancellor, according to the report of the Committee on Trade and Commerce of the Federal Council (Bundesrath), loan bureaus (Darlehnskassen) for the purpose of making loans on security to meet the need of credit, especially in the interest of trade and industry.

Subsidiary branches of the Darlehnskassen may be established in other than the designated places to aid in the work of lending and of building up depots.

Section 2. For the full amount of the loan granted shall be paid out a special form of money known as "Darlehenskassenscheine." These notes shall be received at their full face value in payment at all the Imperial offices as well as at all the public offices of the states of the Empire; in private transactions they shall not be a compulsory means of payment.

In the meaning of Sections 9, 17 and 44 of the Bank Act of March 14, 1875, the notes of the loan bureaus stand on the same footing as the Reichskassenscheine (Imperial Treasury notes).

The total amount of the notes of the loan bureaus shall not exceed 1500 million marks. The Federal Council is empowered in case of necessity to raise the amount of notes outstanding.

No notes of loan bureaus shall be issued by the management of the loan bureaus (Sec. 13) for which sufficient security, as fixed by Sections 4 and 6, shall not be provided.

Before their issue, an exact description of the notes shall be made public by the management of the loan bureau.

Section 3. Loans can be given for not less than 100 marks, and shall not run as a rule for a longer term than three, and only in exceptional circumstances for six, months.

Section 4. The security may consist of:

a) The pledge of industrial, agricultural and mineral products and non-perishable merchandise, stored within the limits of the Empire, as a rule, for one-half, or in exceptional cases, for two-thirds of their value, according to differences of circumstances and salability.

b) The pledge of securities issued by the Empire, or by the government of a German state, or those conforming to legal requirements issued by corporations, joint-stock companies, or limited partnerships, which are located within the Empire, at a reduction from their current or market price. Paper not running in the name of the bearer must be transferred to the loan bureaus.

c) The pledge of other securities which the management (Sec. 13) declare to be satisfactory.

For the fulfillment of the pledge of articles mentioned in a) it suffices, instead of actual delivery, to indicate the pledge clearly by some external mark, such as a tablet or the like.

Section 5. Commodities which are subject to serious changes of price will be accepted as pledge only if a third solvent person guarantees the payment of the loan.

Section 6. A loan may also be protected by the pledge of claims, which have been entered in the Imperial Debt Records (Reichsschuldbuch) or in that of a German state, at a reduction from the current value determined according to the face value and the rate of interest of the obligations corresponding to the pledged claims.

In case a mortgage on a claim of the sort mentioned in the first paragraph be inscribed on the records in favor of the loan bureau, it is sufficient to have the attestation of two members of the board of directors.

As to the attestation, the regulations of section 183 of the act concerning matters of voluntary jurisdiction have like application.

Section 7. If a mortgage to a loan bureau has been entered on the records (Sec. 6), the bureau thereby acquires a right, even if a third person has a claim on it, prior to the rights of that third person; unless the right of the third person had been entered at the time of the inscription of the mortgage on the records; or was known at that time to the bureau; or was not known because of gross negligence.

If the debtor has delayed meeting the obligation secured by the pledge, the Administration of the Debt Records is thereby empowered and obliged, on a written request of the loan bureau, without requiring any proof of the delay, to issue obligations payable to bearer to liquidate the whole or a corresponding part of the claim; unless an order of the court intervenes which forbids the payment to the loan bureau; or unless same right of a third person, or a limitation of the mortgage in favor of the third person has been recorded, which was entered earlier than the pledge in favor of the loan bureau.

The Administration of the Records must inform the loan bureau of later entries affecting the adequacy of the obligation.

As to the satisfaction of the loan bureau regarding the obligations discharged by the Administration of the Debt Records, the regulations of Sections 10, 11 have corresponding application.

Section 8. The rate of interest on a loan granted shall as a rule not be higher than the published rate at which the Reichsbank buys bills of exchange.

Section 9. The security should suffice for the principal, interest, and expenses; these secondary claims should be deducted from the sum of the loan.

Section 10. If payment is not made at maturity, the loan bureau may sell the security through one of its officials or a broker and reimburse itself out of the proceeds. The loan bureau shall dispose of the security only to the highest bidder in the open market.

Section 11. Also, if the debtor should go into bankruptcy, the loan bureau retains the right to sell the security without an order of the court. (§Sec. 127, Sec. 2, of the Bankruptcy Act of May 20, 1898, does not apply.)

Section 12. The loan bureaus form independent institutions with the attributes and rights of a legal persons. Their business enjoys freedom from stamps and duties.

Section 13. The Reichsbank assumes the management of the loan bureaus under the direction of the Imperial Chancellor in the interest of the Empire, but quite apart from its other business. The general administration shall be established in Berlin in a special bank department known as the "Hauptverwaltung der Darlehnskassen" according to more detailed directions given by the Imperial Chancellor. In addition, there shall be appointed for each loan bureau a special board of directors subordinate to the Hauptverwaltung, to which shall be appointed by the Imperial Chancellor a representative of the Empire as well as members from the commercial or industrial classes. The Imperial Chancellor issues instructions for the conduct of the business of the loan bureaus.

Section 14. The opening of the loan bureaus is to be brought to general attention over the names of the imperial representative and the members of the board of directors through the journals designated for official notices.

Section 15. Two of the members of the board of directors chosen from the commercial or industrial classes shall, in alternate weeks, manage the business of the loan bureaus and see that the provisions of this act are observed.

Section 16. The imperial representative must keep informed of the whole business of the bureau and has a right of veto upon all applications for loans. The determination of the reduction to be made from the current or market price of the securities pledged, within the limits set by the regulations of the business, rests with the imperial representative after receiving the advice of the board of directors.

Section 17. The profits of the loan bureaus, after deducting the expenses of administration, shall be applied to covering any possible losses and to the future redemption of the notes of the bureaus. Any possible surplus goes to the Imperial Treasury.

Section 18. The notes of the loan bureaus shall be issued in denominations of 5, 10, 20 and 50 marks. The issue of larger denominations of the notes, and the proportions in which the various denominations are to be used, will be determined by the regulations of the Imperial Chancellor. (Under this provision, and by Act of August 31, 1914, denominations of 1 and 2 marks were issued.)

The notes of the loan bureaus shall be issued by the Administration of the Imperial Debt (Reichsschuldenverwaltung), within the maximum limits (Sec. 2, paragraph 3), according to the orders of the Imperial Chancellor given to the Administration-in-Chief of the loan bureaus, which assumes the responsibility for the issue.

The control over the preparation and issue of the notes of the loan bureaus is exercised by the Commission on the Imperial Debt.

The Imperial Chancellor is to make public monthly the amount of the notes of the loan bureaus outstanding.

Section 19. As soon as the need for a loan bureau no longer exists, the Imperial Chancellor is to close it up and make public the fact.

On the return of peace, the notes of the loan bureaus, issued by virtue of this act, shall be withdrawn according to the detailed instructions of the Federal Council.

Section 20. (Sections 146-149, 151, 152, and 360, Numbers 4-6, of the criminal law apply to these notes.)

Section 21. The advances on securities (Lombards) granted by the Reichsbank, in the period from August 3, 1914, to the establishment of the loan bureaus, on other securities than those mentioned in Section 13, No. 3, of the Bank Act (March 14, 1875), are hereby ratified.

Section 22. This law goes into effect on the day of its promulgation.

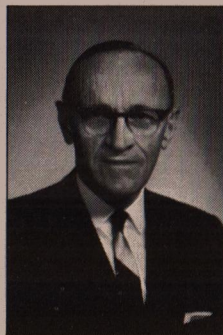

Moon Landing Medal

and First Day Cover

American Mint Associates, through its Metal Arts Division, Rochester, N. Y., has published a combined philatelic-numismatic souvenir to herald the event of the century.—the landing on the moon. The bronze 34mm medal depicts the flag raising scene on the medal. Along with the medal in an easel type holder is a first-day cover that includes two cancellations. Cost is $3.95 from American Mint Associates, Media, Pa. 19063.

PRESIDENT'S DESK

Herbert M. Bergen President

One of the most gratifying results of the mid-year meeting of the board of governors in Colorado Springs last February was the adoption of a balanced budget for the current fiscal year. This is the first time in several years that a truly balanced budget could be presented by the finance committee which is now under the chairmanship of vice president John Pittman.

It is evident from this not only that our officers and administrative staff have been able to effect economics, but that income from various sources has been increased. The count of new memberships is sharply up in recent months while delinquent membership drops, deaths, and resignations have decreased this year, thus providing for a net increase in dues from which most of the ANA income is derived. This is a sign that we have recovered from the break in the unhealthy coin investment boom in the last decade and that we are now back to a normal growth of numismatics as a hobby with all of the cultural enjoyment that it provides.

It is also gratifying to report that at the same time that a balanced budget was achieved, a modest increase was granted in wages to all of the employees at headquarters to help them keep up with the higher living costs resulting from inflation.

A sense of satisfaction also came from this improvement in the financial status of ANA in that it provided a better climate for promoting the growth of the several major projects that have been announced in my previous messages. These are, the establishment of a numismatic agency by the U.S. Treasury Department; taking over ANAT and organizing an authentication service; increasing the endowment fund to the amount required to complete the furnishing of our museum and employing a curator to take care of and display the ANA collection; and to allow greater improvement of our library and the several other educational activities now being carried on.

We are thus looking forward to rounding out a fiscal year that will bring about the results that we have been aiming at, and to which the membership can point with pride. Now that we have the momentum, we must not let down but must apply every effort with full strength to keep us going forward. This can be done if every member will do his share.

Don Dow to Sculpt 1970 Convention Medal

William W. Wallace
Publicity Chairman

Official registrants of the ANA 79th anniversary convention convening at the Chase-Park Plaza Hotel, St. Louis, Missouri, August 18-22, 1970, will carry away with them a most significant memento, for the convention medal, by strength of design and completeness of legend, pays permanent and fitting tribute to our national parent numismatic organization, its annual convention, and host city and designing club, the Missouri Numismatic Society of St. Louis.

The local convention medal committee comprised of the MNS governing body, is pleased to announce approval of preliminary designs by the ANA board of governors, and the selection of Medallion Art Company of New York as medal producer.

Don Dow, nationally recognized sculptor of many medals including those of the California State Numismatic Association and the Token and Medal Society, will sculpture the convention badge.

The medal designs represent a joint effort by various MNS members who responded to a society-wide invitation for submission of drawings for review and consideration by the board who collaborated with Medallion Art Company in design finalization and selection.

Appropriately, by word and picture, the medal obverse highlights the ANA, its seal, and the convention, and relates it to the local site by inclusion of a statue of the city's namesake, St. Louis IX of France, Patron Saint of principal founder LaCledé's ruling monarch, King Louis XV, encircled in an impressive design of the Gateway Arch.

The reverse emphasizes St. Louis' role in areas of westward expansion, exploration, technology, enterprise, industry, and science, and the three major nationalities constituting early St. Louis settlers. Fittingly, the nation's tallest monument, the now internationally-famed 630' Gateway Arch with its unique architectural design and structure, directly relates St. Louis to westward expansion and national historical significance.

The inner circle which, in final design, will include the city's founding date — 1764 — depicts the fleur-de-lis of Louis XV, acknowledging the city's French heritage. The adjacent three sets of three-each curved lines represent the confluence of the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers at St. Louis. Both elements feature predominantly in the official St. Louis flag.

The multiple of three in the fleur-de-lis and the river lines symbolizes the three national groups — Spanish, German, and French — influential in the establishment and development of the city; the traditional division of the city which by natural boundary of the mighty Mississippi to the east, is confined to south, north, and west sides; the three branches of the city government; and the loyalty of the people to city, state, and nation.

The various modes of transportation depict St. Louis-related transportation progress and contrast.

"Though most important as carriers of northern-bound freight, steamboats transported many emigrants on the first leg of their westward journey and played a tremendous part in the founding and settling of St. Louis.

For their journey "o'er the plains," most westerners found a canvas-covered wagon with wide tires to prevent wheels sinking into the sand, the best vehicle. Illinois or Missouri oxen most quickly adaptable to trail forage and the least likely objects of Indian acquisition, hauled the loads. During the May to September travel season, lines of these prairie schooners, most of which were assembled and supplied at St. Louis, stretched westward from the Missouri on their first step of migration west of the Mississippi.

The railroad engine patterned after one of the city's first — The Gasconade of the mid-1800s — recognizes the city's role as site of operation of the first railroad train west of the Mississippi, and its establishment and continued maintenance as national railroad hub second only to Chicago.

The airplane represents the monoplane flown by Charles Lindbergh on his historic first solo non-stop trans-Atlantic flight from Roosevelt Field, New York to Le Bourget, France, May 20-21, 1927. On April 15, 1925, in the early days of aviation, Lindbergh entered duties as air mail pilot on route from St. Louis to Chicago. His decision to compete for a $25,000 prize offered by Raymond B. Orteig for a New York-to-Paris non-stop flight was made while flying this route. Only after many nation-wide unfruitful efforts to obtain financial backing, did he find such support in St. Louis when a small group of local businessmen financed the building of his plane, hence appropriately named the "Spirit of St. Louis." As tribute to this philanthropic contribution, an outstanding collection of world-wide Lindbergh trophies and other mementoes, including Lindbergh's actual flying suit, is maintained in the Jefferson National Memorial located in Forest Park.

The capsule represents the enormity and importance of past and projected NASA roles played by St. Louis-located McDonnell Douglas Corporation and its affiliated companies which have manufactured some 32 space capsules, Saturn and other planet launch vehicles.

We hope purchasers will agree that the medal does indeed constitute a significant numismatic tribute not only to transportation progress and the unparalleled growth and history of our great nation, but to the American Numismatic Association, Gateway to Numismatic Progress.

Because of the overwhelming popularity of the small size ladies' medal at last year's convention, the medal will again be minted in two sizes; 2,400 of the 38mm bronze for the men, and 700 of the 19mm bronze for the ladies. The ribbon representing colors of the official St. Louis flag, will be red, white, blue, and gold striped.

Also available will be a plastic-encased set of three medals consisting of one each of the bronze medals and a silver medal of the 38mm size, appropriately inscribed in gold to identify the convention and set sequence number. The set sequence number will appear also on the edge of both large medals. The silver medal will be available in the set only.

It is anticipated that medal sales will be high; therefore, pre-registrants are encouraged to reserve both individual medals and medal sets promptly upon receipt of the pre-registration form which will be forthcoming in the near future both by personal request and in various numismatic publications.

Request from accepted bourse dealers for assistant bourse registrations have been duly recorded and pre-registration materials will be sent promptly to these and other applicants, along with requested hotel reservation blanks, upon completion of the various forms. Future pre-registration requests should be directed to Charles E. Hileman, Registration Chairman, ANA 79th Anniversary Convention, P. O. Box 714, Granite City, Illinois 62040. Where applicable, all bourse dealers should specify that requests are for bourse assistants.

Judah Magnes Honored on New Series

Judah Leon Magnes will be the first person honored in a planned series of commemorative medals forming a medallic Jewish-American Hall of Fame. The medal and future issues will be under the auspices of the Judah Magnes Museum as part of a program to encourage Judaic art and education. Obverse shows the library of Hebrew University on Mount Scopus and the Shrine of the Book, which houses the Dead Sea scrolls Magnes helped secure. The reverse bears an inscription said to be his personal philosophy. Both the shape of the medal and the techniques used for creating the original models are unique in medallic art. For this, credit must be given to the sculptor, Victor Ries, whose outstanding work in the field of Jewish ceremonial art has already brought him numerous awards. No more than 500 will be issued in silver, 1000 in bronze, $25.00 and $6.50 respectively. The medal is 51mm in diameter and can be ordered from the Magnes Museum, 2911 Russell St., Berkeley, Cal. 94705.

FEATURING FAKES

DO YOU HAVE THE ORIGINAL?

Study well this "1772" real de a ocho . . . and then beware!

A cast counterfeit of an altered-date genuine 1770 or 1771 Mexico mint coin, this specimen was offered in Latin America for US $3,500 along with the fairy tale that the coin long had been in a famous Russian collection, smuggled out of Russia into the Western Hemisphere.

This same specimen or its twin later was offered at a thousand bucks less.

Which brings me to the question I hear so often . . . "How much will ANAT charge to examine a coin?"

The fee for examining this "1772" coin would have been only ANAT's minimum fee, say $3, because this coin would have been unmasked by ANAT's simplest examination, despite the coin being (if genuine) worth at least US $3,500.

Now turn to your March '70 The Numismatist . . . the 24 cast counterfeit reales de a ocho. Those, too, required nothing more complex than a 30-x stereo 'scope. Again, ANAT's minimum fee.

Next, turn to your April '70 issue . . . the fake gold 8 escudos. To prepare a foolproof case to stand up in court, the required complex examination of those gold 8 escudos would cost about $250.00, not because they are gold, but because of the extremely expensive equipment needed for such examination.

ANAT's fees are to be based on time and equipment used.

ANAT's operations must, of course, be self-financing.

All collectors . . . and dealers . . . need ANAT.

If you . . . and your club . . . have not yet contributed to the American Numismatic Authentication Trust (ANAT), then shoot your tax-deductible donation to any of the three ANAT trustees: Abe Kosoff, Box 456, Encino, Calif. 91317; John Pittman, 4 Acton St., Rochester, N.Y. 14615; Virgil Hancock, Box 936, Bellaire, Texas 77401.

All contributions are deposited in Trust Account 00-5932-3 in the Houston National Bank, Houston, Texas. Not one cent has been . . . nor will be . . . spent for any expenses entailed in the drive for the $50,000.00 needed to launch ANAT. Should the trustees decide the hobby does not want ANAT, then every cent shall be returned to the contributors.

For the Junior

What Two Juniors Have to Say On the Cleaning of Coins

Not too many months ago, members of the Burlington Coin Club, ANA C-7345, Burlington, Iowa, were treated to an educational program that was planned, programmed and presented by two of their junior members, Kenneth White and David Milford. The boys also researched all the material and then addressed the full membership.

The complete program is of great interest, but we have selected one portion to present here. Others will be printed at later dates. It is about a subject that both adults and juniors frequently inquire about. This subject, taken from the White-Milford talk, is on the cleaning of coins.

"One of the foremost questions asked by collectors is whether or not to clean their coins. Each coin must be given an individual answer to this very important question.

"In general it is best to never clean a coin without expert advice. Never clean an uncirculated, proof, or rare coin. Do not clean badly worn coins. It will not enhance it any and will be a waste of time. Never rub any coins with an eraser or other abrasive substance (such as toothpaste), this will only scratch the coin and make it worth less.

"When thinking about cleaning coins, it is advisable to remember that properly toned coins are sometimes worth more than a brilliant uncirculated coin. When some coins tarnish, they show all the colors of the rainbow, making a very lovely piece.

"This brings us to another very important phase of coin collecting. This is the storing and displaying of valuable coins. Paper and cardboard contains sulphur which is very injurious to all coins and will tarnish them readily. Contrary to popular opinion, cellophane envelopes are not good to store coins in. They become brittle, crack and consequently tarnish and corrode the coins.

"The following method is the best procedure to keep proof and uncirculated silver coins from tarnishing. Place the coins to be stored in lucite or plexiglas holders. Although rather expensive, these holders are well worth their price and they are very attractive and will not tarnish coins. Another advantage to this method is that the coins can be seen without removing them from their holders."

We wish to thank district representative, Mrs. June Budd, a member of the club, for forwarding to us a copy of the boys' program.

NEW & RECENT ISSUES

by Ernst Kraus, LM 129

It is the important duty of The Numismatist to record and illustrate new coins. To accomplish this, members in the United States and abroad are invited to submit new issues to Ernst Kraus, Room 939 (include room number in address), 393 Seventh Ave., New York, N. Y. 10001. Coins will be photographed and returned as soon as possible, and a credit line will be given to anyone assisting.

Colombia

Tradition has decreed that coins be round. In the old days it was easier to spot clipping and mechanically there was less chance of die breakage if the planchet was round. Traditions die hard, but with the current age the trend seems to be for originality and more and more countries are experimenting with their coinages. Colombia has reduced the size, from 30mm to 23mm, and the shape, from round to 12-sided, of its 50-centavos coin. The design remains the same as on the issues of 1967 and 1968.

Y-84. 50 centavos, 1970. Nickel-clad steel. Obverse: head of Francisco de Paula Santander to right; date below, 1970; legend around, REPUBLICA DE COLOMBIA. Reverse: value in center, 50 / CENTAVOS, within an open wreath. Diameter 23mm. Weight 5 grams. Planchet 12-sided. Edge plain.

Guyana

Guyana, formerly British Guiana, achieved independence in 1966. On February 23 of this year, the country became a republic and on that day the Queen of England ceased to be the Queen of Guyana. The country is located on the northeast shoulder of the South American continent and is notable for its mighty rivers.

Guyana itself means "land of waters" in the Amerindian dialect. To mark its becoming a republic, Guyana has issued 500,000 commemorative dollars and the release date coincided with Republic Day. An additional 5,000 are being struck in proof condition for collectors. The obverse honors Cuffy, the leader of the slave revolt, in 1763, against the Dutch in Berbice colony. The reverse is the country's contribution to the Food and Agriculture Organization's (FAO) coin plan. Designed by Patrick Munroe and engraved by William Gardner, the coins were struck at the Royal Mint in London.

head and rice plant; ONE DOLLAR / 1970 / BANK OF GUYANA below; REPUBLIC OF GUYANA / FOOD FOR ALL above. Diameter 35.5mm. Weight 18.6 grams. Edge milled.

Ireland

Ireland's new 50-pence coins followed suit with England's equal denomination. The new decimal coins, which entered circulation around St. Patrick's Day, are seven-sided and were struck at the Royal Mint in London.

Mexico

Reflecting the trend to modern art, for which the country is famous, Mexico's 5 and 50 centavos coins now display the new form in portraying the national emblem on the reverse.

Y-84. 5 centavos, 1970. Brass. Obverse: portrait of Dona Josefa Ortiz de Dominguez to right; value around, CINCO CENTAVOS (Mintmark) 1970. Reverse: modern version of national emblem; floral wreath below; legend around upper part ESTADOS UNIDOS MEXICANOS. Diameter 18mm. Weight 2.7 grams. Edge plain.

New Zealand

Stamp and coin collectors will have a field day with the Royal family tour of the South Pacific. In Australia the post office department is preparing a set of 22 pictorial covers, each postmarked at one of the Royal tour stops, and each stamped with a Royal visit issue. New Zealand will release a special commemorative coin for the occasion. The dollar piece will be struck at the Royal Australian Mint in Canberra.

at the base of the mountain, AORANGI as it is called by the natives; at top, MOUNT COOK named for its discoverer and explorer, Captain Cook. Diameter 38.7mm. Weight 27.2 grams. Edge milled.

Tonga

Taking lead from the issuance of postage stamps when a country will overprint an issue to further its sale to collectors, the Pacific islands kingdom of Tonga, has introduced the practice to its coins. To the regular coinage issues of the one and two pa'anga for 1968 an "overprinting" has been added to create another collector variety. This issue "commemorates" the oil search of 1969.

Y- . 1 pa'anga, 1969. Copper-nickel.

Obverse: head of ruler to right; date in center below, 1968; legend around upper portion, TAUFA'AHAU TUPOU IV; counterstamped to the left of the date, a small oil derrick and date 1969; to the right of the date, OIL SEARCH. Reverse: coat of arms; value above, PA'ANGA; below, TONGA. Diameter 39mm. Weight 28.2 grams. Edge milled.

Y- . 2 pa'anga, 1969. Copper-nickel. Similar to above except for size, weight and value. Diameter 44.5mm. Weight 42 grams. Edge milled.

Trinidad and Tobago

Trinidad and Tobago, the most southerly of the West Indies, gained independence in 1962. Its latest issue coin represents a new high value and is intended for current circulation with a view eventually to replace 1-dollar banknotes. This newest denomination is also the country's contribution to the FAO coin plan and was struck by the Sherritt Mint, Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta, Canada. Released in December 1969, some of the 250,000 struck have been reserved for sale to collectors. Although no details have been released as to cost, collectors can write to the Central Bank of Trinidad and Tobago, P. O. Box 1250, Port-of-Spain, Trinidad.

Y-6. 1 dollar, 1970. Nickel. Obverse: national coat of arms in center; date below, 1969; legend above, TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO. Reverse: numeral 1 superimposed over cocoa branch with fruit, representatives of the islands' agricultural production; DOLLAR below; FOOD FOR ALL above. Diameter 32mm. Weight 12.63 grams. Thickness 1.75mm. Edge milled. Designer Harry Markwardt.

CENTURY OLD NOTES

The guinea obtained its name from the gold from which it was made having been brought from the Guinea coast by the African company of traders. The first notice of this gold was in 1649, during the Commonwealth of England, when on the 14th of April of that year the Parliament referred to the Council of State a paper presented to the House concerning the coinage of gold brought in a ship lately from Guiny, for the better advancing of trade. But it was in the reign of Charles II. that the name was first given to this coin.

It is among things not generally known, that when the guinea was originally coined, the intention was to make it current as a twenty-shilling piece; but from an error, or rather a series of errors, in calculating the exact proportions of the value of gold and silver, it never circulated for that value. Sir Isaac Newton, in his time, fixed the true value of the guinea, in relation to silver, at 20s 8d, and by his advice, the Crown proclaimed that for the future it should be current at 21s. A curious question arises out of the fact alluded to: how many millions of money has the English public lost by the payment of a guinea, when a twenty-shilling piece would have sufficed, had the costly error never have been fallen into.

Mid-Year Meeting Routine

As has become the custom, members of the board of governors of the American Numismatic Association held their interim meeting in Colorado Springs in mid-February. Present for the three-day sessions were: Herbert M. Bergen, president; John Jay Pittman, vice president; Harold H. Berk, Grover C. Criswell, Virginia Culver, George D. Hatie, Eldridge G. Jones, Richard A. Long, and Glenn Smedley, governors. Also in attendance were: Adna G. Wilde, Jr., executive director; Edward C. Rochette, editor; William C. Henderson, treasurer; and Ellis Edlow, legal counsel.

Meetings of the full board took up all three days, with a number of committees holding evening sessions. Discussions, sometimes lengthy and always candid, covered many facets of ANA operations, problems and plans. The following actions should be of interest to members and others in the hobby.

Elections

Certain changes were made in the procedure for electing officers, those proposed having been published on page 1364 of the October 1969 issue of The Numismatist. Of the numbered changes proposed therein, most passed. The two principal rules adopted were that three consecutive years of membership immediately prior to nomination be a prerequisite to running for office (the original proposal called for six years), and that a candidate must receive at least five nominations from member clubs and at least five from individual members to be eligible. Item number 3, that the names of the nominators and the number of nominations will not be published in The Numismatist, was not accepted.

Others were that, to be valid, nominations must be received by the executive director not earlier than February 1 and not later than April 15 of an election year; that no member may nominate a number of candidates for any office in excess of the number to be elected; and that the numbered envelopes for the return of ballots shall not be addressed to the ANA or to an addressee containing any abbreviation or variant of the association's name.

ANAT

Approval was given for the association to assume the functions and operations of the ANAT provided the consent and concurrence of the trustees now operating the fund is obtained. Many persons feel that such a change would increase the support for this badly needed project for authentication of numismatic items, and quite possibly could insure better cooperation from governmental agencies after it gets underway. A suggestion that each member of ANA be assessed $1.00 for the ANAT fund found no support among board members.

Publications

The association had requested bids from printing firms for producing The Numismatist and a number of sealed bids were received and opened prior to the board meeting. Some further study of the bids was felt necessary before making a decision. The board agreed to accept the recommendation, after due deliberations, of the publications committee which, in this instance, includes the president, executive director and editor. Subject to the approval of legal counsel, this committee was authorized to enter into a contract for the publishing of the magazine.

Operating Budget

An operating budget for the year ending June 30, 1970, was drawn up and presented by the finance committee under the chairmanship of John Jay Pittman. For the first time in many years, it is a balanced budget, amounting to $275,000 of operating income and expenses, and was approved by the board.

Conventions

The committee on conventions made a report which was considered carefully and accepted. While it will not make any momentous changes in the annual conventions it does clarify certain guidelines for the host club and should help in convention planning and staging.

As a part of planning for the 1973 convention, previously awarded to Boston, it was decided (1) to utilize the Sheraton-Boston Hotel and (2) to initiate the starting of the convention on Thursday and end on Monday. Dates for this convention will be August 23-27, 1973.

This is a change from the recent practice of starting on Tuesday and ending on Saturday, but is a reversion to an old schedule. The 1953 Dallas convention was held over a weekend. It is felt that many persons within a few hours drive will attend during the weekend and that others may find travel more economical over the weekend period.

Awards

Money donated for "name" awards for two classes of annual convention exhibits has been exhausted. The board approved the naming of the awards in class 7 (foreign coins after 1500AD) and class 9 (all gold coins) by any donors who fund a minimum of $1,000 for each award. Such awards will be continued as long as the money, including income derived from its investment, shall be available. This is a chance to keep alive for many years the name of some loved one in numismatics.

Bourse

The board approved a list of applicants for bourse space at the St. Louis convention, August 18-22, and these dealers have been notified. Nine publishers and suppliers who do not handle coins, medals, and paper money are included in the 122 applications accepted.

Applicants for bourse tables must secure and file an application each year prior to a deadline of mid-January. In making selections, the board considers such factors as a good geographic distribution and diverse types of material offered, integrity of the applicant, and his support of the association. Space limitations at each convention must be taken into account when determining the number of tables available.

Club Program

The $1 credit to member clubs for each new ANA member (except associate) they sign up was extended to September 1, 1971. Such applications must bear the signature of the club representative as one of the sponsors of the new member and the club name. Since this plan was instigated a year ago, many clubs have taken advantage of it to earn credits against their dues payments or to secure medals or other items which the ANA has for sale.

Hall of Fame

A few minor changes were made in the Numismatic Hall of Fame election procedures, as recommended by its council. These provide for each elector voting for not more than 10 nor less than 5 candidates, and changing the number of votes to elect to 13 and to place losing candidates on the list for the next election to 3.

Other Business

The following two resolutions were adopted by the board: I. Resolved that the members of the board of governors of the American Numismatic Association express their appreciation to Harry Bass, Jr., for his generous contribution to the association for the preparation and publication of a new library catalogue.

And, II. Resolved that the members of the board of governors of the American Numismatic Association express their appreciation to Coin World for its generous contribution to the association for the furtherance of its educational purposes.

National Coin Week

Participation About 30% Ahead of Last Year

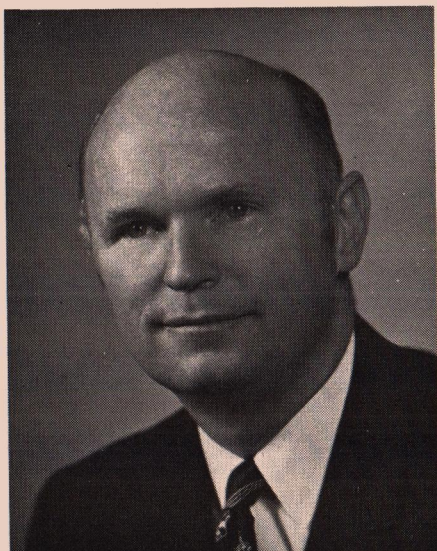

This is the month of anticipation. It is still too early to tell whether or not National Coin Week — 1970 will break all records for club and individual participation and too late to add many helpful hints on ideas for participation.

The cry this year has been, "Tell It Like It Is!" In other words let the world know what a great hobby this is. Emphasis has been placed on the ONE WEEK — National Coin Week. Early indications are that participation will exceed recent years by at least thirty, possibly fifty percent. More clubs and individuals have requested the National Coin Week kits than ever before in recent times.

As in past years, there has been some legislation to have national recognition for this one week. Recognizing the need to perpetuate the status of National Coin Week, has been Representative Roger H. Zion (R. Ind.), who recently offered to Congress H.J.Res. 1110. The resolution, introduced in March to the House of Representatives, would authorize President Nixon to proclaim the fourth week of April of each year as National Coin Week.

As in past years the proposal has been referred to the Judiciary Committee, which someday might establish NCW an eternal and deserving place on our calendars.

Anyone wishing to contact Rep. Zion to support his fine efforts or aid in the campaign for Res. 1110 can write to him at 1226 Longworth House Office Bldg., Washington, D.C. 20515. The effort for this recognition should not be limited to the immediate present, but should be a long range effort over a period of time needed to gain recognition. Have your club support these efforts.

Library Cataloguing Underway Made Possible By Two Patrons

Our most recent addition to the family at the American Numismatic Association is Mrs. Emily Cox. Her duties include cataloguing the largest circulating numismatic library in the world.

Emily is originally from Jersey City, New Jersey. (You can easily tell by talking to her.) Graduated from Smith College in Northampton, Massachusetts, she went on to finish her graduate work at the Columbia University School of Library Service where she placed first in her class. Upon graduation from Columbia, she was employed by International Nickel Company of New York City where she was involved with library research and laboratory work. Also added to her impressive list of credits is the setting up and cataloguing of the Freeport Sulphur Company library. This, too, was in New York City.

Emily stated that under the present ANA library system all literary material is classified alphabetically under the author's last name. Specific requests, as a result, are sometimes awkward and oftentimes impossible to locate. The objectives of a catalogued library, therefore, are to make the resource facilities more available and convenient to obtain. "Loosely based on the Library of Congress' catalog system," Emily went on to note, "the finalization will have all numismatic literature grouped by time, place, coins, tokens, medals, orders and decorations, paper money and money and banking." (Economics) This, needless to mention, will be a tremendous asset to fact finders and students of numismatics who have an idea of what they want, however, are unable to furnish the author's name. She also added that each book and periodical will be eventually numbered and listed in card-index files.

With the generous support of $5,000 from Harry W. Bass, and a $1,000 contribution from J. Oliver Amos of Sidney Publishing Company, Sidney, Ohio, publishers of Coin World magazine, the 1970 February ANA board of governor's meeting deemed the allocations a necessary step toward enhancing the library's availability. So it was, in early January of 1970, that Emily took on the task of cataloguing the approximate 3,000 reference items which constitute the ANA library.

Aside from her regular duties in the ANA library, Emily still finds the time after hours to index books and pamphlets sent to her by International Nickel. When we asked this busy girl how she was enjoying her work here, she quickly answered, "I love it." We feel her efforts will be to the benefit and advantage of all our members and interested numismatic patrons.

LIBRARY REPORT

Language Expert Donates Time

Maximilian W. Hagnauer

The library staff has been fortunate to have had the volunteer services of ANA member Maximilian W. Hagnauer, above, of New Canaan, Connecticut, in recent weeks. His invaluable assistance in the cataloguing of the Germanic language books has been most helpful.

Each month the library finds itself indebted to a growing number of book donors. Some of the names appear with monthly regularity, others on an occasional basis, and then we add a few new and different names each month, as well. To all of these fine members we extend our sincere gratitude: Paul A. Ruston, Robert J. Myers, S. T. Shaft, Lee Hornbeck, Manuel M. Irigoyen, and Dr. Arthur F. Mangelsdorff.

Also, Harry Breslauer, Col. O. M. Baldinger, Myron Abrams, C. E. Berry, Robert J. Reed, Cecil E. Hutchings, Martin Savitsky, Richard Ban-yai, Jake Simons, R. E. Greenwood, J. D. Miller, John Fies, and Admiral O. H. Dodson.

Plus, Charles Eckert, Sr., Robert M. Ramsay, Lawrence E. Pugh, and George W. Lake. A special thanks also to the Stoughton Coin Club, Walter de Gruyter & Company, Oxford University Press, and Argonaut Inc., publishers.

BOOK REVIEWS

Give a man a hobby, a favorite recreation however trivial, and it will do much to prevent him from lapsing into dissipation and vice. — Carl Schurz.

The Nature of Malice

DEUTSCHE SPOTTMEDAILLEN AUF JUDEN by Bruno Kirschner. 1968. Hard cover. 92pp. Illustrated. Ernst Battenberg Verlag, Munich, and Leo Baeck Institute, Jerusalem, Israel. Approx. $8.50.

Dr. Bruno Kirschner completed rabbinical studies with distinction but then entered on a commercial career. Nevertheless, he remained interested in Jewish history and was associated with a number of research projects in that field. He lived in Berlin until 1937 and later moved to Jerusalem, where he died at the age of nearly 80 in 1964. After the death of the author, Arie Kindler of the Kadman Numismatic Museum was commissioned by the Leo Baeck Institut to prepare the present monograph from papers left by Dr. Kirschner.

Although derisive medals (Spottmedaillen, a term which the creators of this work consider more appropriate than the English phrase "satirical medals") about Jews are also known from England, France, Russia, Poland and Hungary, this monograph confines itself to those produced in Germany, in keeping with the objectives of the Leo Baeck Institut, which is dedicated to the study of the history of the Jews in Germany.

This work is essentially a catalogue of medals with exact descriptions useful to numismatists (including weights), but goes far beyond the usual confines of a catalogue inasmuch as it gives extensive historical background discussions of the medals it lists.

The first derisive medal on Jews listed originates from the early 16th century, but the majority of the medals listed originate from the 17th and 18th centuries. The monograph divides the medals into several classes: religious, moralistic, erotic, economic, and historic. Of the economic classification, several relate to Kornjuden (Jewish grain merchants), on whom the price rises were often blamed in times of food shortages.

The relatively favorable position of the Jews during the Second Reich (1871-1918) is reflected by medals on the anti-Semitic agitator, Hermann Ahlwardt, who was sentenced to prison for his activities in 1892 and finally expelled from his party.

During the bitter years after World War I, four medals by the famous medalist Kurt Gotz, dated 1918-1920, were directed against the Jewish prime minister of Bavaria, Kurt Eisner, whose tenure of office lasted only from November, 1918, to February, 1919, when he was assassinated by a half-Jew. It is doubtful that these medals are of an anti-Semitic nature, however, since they seem to be directed against Eisner simply as a socialistic political figure. During the last and worst year of the inflation, 1923, a medal appeared against the usurers, "whether Jew or Christian." These are the only five medals listed from the time of the Weimar Republic. During the National-Socialist period (1933-1945) surprisingly little use was made of the medal as a vehicle for anti-Semitic propaganda, even though this period proved to be the darkest of all for Jews in Germany. Only three medals from the National-Socialist period are listed and no medals later than 1939 are listed at all. A rather extensive bibliography concludes the monograph.

We concur with the concluding observation on the dust jacket of this work to the effect that the medals described in it are of prime importance as source materials for the history of Jews in Germany. The commentaries contained in this book are an outstanding example of historical observation in connection with numismatic evidence and are rich in psychological insights on one of the most universal of human problems, lack of harmony between men of diverse racial origins. — Dr. Charles E. Weber.

An Original Study

THE ORIGINS OF THE ANASTASIAN CURRENCY REFORMS by D. M. Metcalf. 160 pp., 12 plates. 1969. Argonaut, Inc., Publishers, 737 North Michigan Ave., Suite 425, Chicago, Illinois 60611. $10.00.

In recent years, Argonaut has published many works on archaeology and ancient numismatics. Some of these are old, republications of valuable reference books long out of print. Others are original treatises. This book is of the second type, a new study by an expert on late Roman and Byzantine coins. The reader who follows the argument must have something like a specialist's knowledge of the history and numismatics of the 3rd through the 6th centuries of the Christian Era, especially in the Eastern Roman Empire.

A general reader may be interested in the broad purpose of the Anastasian currency reform: for it sought to solve the problem of how a government, having discredited itself by continuous and disastrous devaluation and inflation, can restore a sound coinage and public confidence. By a series of devaluations during the 3rd and 4th centuries, the Roman Empire had forfeited confidence in its copper and (nominally) silver coins. Gold was still struck, but it circulated along with masses of tiny, crudely made copper which had no fixed value but were reckoned at several thousand to the smallest gold piece. Among the problems facing Anastasius on his accession in 491, therefore, was that of establishing a reliable currency less valuable than gold.

One might have expected him to try to restore good silver coins, as Diocletian had sought to do a century earlier; but neither Anastasius nor his successors did that. Instead, Anastasius began to issue larger and better made copper coins marked with their value, 10, 20, or 40 of the little nummi. Anastasius did not invent token coins. The Roman Empire used them successfully before the debacle of the 3rd century, and some people in the 5th century knew this. Anastasius was not even first in restoring a token coinage. The city governments of Rome and Carthage had recently begun to strike big coins that must be considered as such. Nor did Anastasius make a complete break with the past, since the new coins were put into circulation on a modest scale and did not at once replace the nummi. Nevertheless, the Anastasian reform is considered important as a step in a process which was to enable the Byzantine rulers to establish the most reliable monetary system in history.

In this book, however, Dr. Metcalf does no more than occasionally hint at the larger political, social, and economic aspects of the subject. The work may be described as a piece of purely numismatic research. Using the few literary sources that exist, but of necessity working mostly with the surviving coins, he tries to discover where and how the coins were made, in what quantities they were issued, and the times and places of their circulation. Even the non-specialist may find the book interesting (to the extent that he can understand it) as an example of what an expert can learn from the coins, even when at first sight they do not seem to be very promising. — Laurence Lee Howe.

Of Medals and Proclamations!

MEDALS OF MEXICO — MEDALS OF THE SPANISH KINGS by Frank W. Grove. Hard cover. 204 pp. Illustrated. Almanzar's Coins of the World. Suite D. Milam Bldg., San Antonio, Tex. 78205.

Works of famous scholars such as Adolfo Harrera, Jose T. Medina, Perez Maldonado, Alejandro Rosa, and others have been researched and additional information has been added to complete this book. The author is a native Californian, who has specialized in collecting and studying Mexican medals and proclamations for about five years. During that time he has studied and photographed most of the medals and proclamations known, including those in collections of the Banco de Mexico in Mexico City, the National Museum of Chapultepec, the American Numismatic Society in New York City, and most of the important private collections.

For years he has traveled extensively in all of the states of Mexico searching for additional material. In 1968, he visited and made notes of the Archivo General de Indios in Seville, Spain. In addition, he has studied all available numismatic books and coin catalogues.

The book covers the era between 1701 and 1821 including the geographical area which was Mexico during those years. This includes Florida, New Mexico, Guatemala, Honduras, El Salvador, Nicaragua, and Costa Rica. Six different reigns from Felipe V to Fernando VII are all covered in the book in alphabetical order by cities or states.

All medals listed are numbered and evaluated by the author, and both sides are illustrated. Although the book is written basically in English, the author refuses to translate the names of the Spanish kings. Some rough translations have been made in the inscriptions on the medals. These are given to aid the student with little or no command of Spanish or Latin language.

Grove first became interested in the subject after purchasing one of these Mexican medals and was later told that it was a counterfeit. Ever since, the whole thing became a challenge to him, and he is now the proud owner of at least 600 different Mexican medals, the majority of which date since the Mexican independence from Spain, including the empire of Agustin de Iturbide and Maximiliano y Carlota.

Close to 400 photographs of different medals and proclamations are shown, and including the different metals and varieties, at least 500 different medals are listed. One thousand numbered copies are available — 400 for distribution in Mexico and 600 for distribution in the United States. Exclusive dealership has been given to Almanzar's Coins of the World.

CENTURY OLD NOTES

Nevada Coinage. — It was recently decided, we believe, to discontinue several of the older branch-mints, and establish one or more new ones in the lately discovered gold regions of the West. One of these, located at Carson City, Nevada, commenced operations on the 4th of February by the coinage of silver dollars from the native metal, and the papers state that there is a heavy demand for pocket-pieces. We are not informed as to whether any alteration from the usual types of our coins is made, but hope before long to see some specimens.

The Token Collector's Page

Yesterday's Premiums

Remember the announcing call, "JACK ARMSTRONG — The All-American Boy!" There is a certain nostalgia in recalling the days of 1930s. Most of us reading these pages today were children then. The radio was the main source of our entertainment. I can't remember what we watched when we listened to the old Zenith, but the programs were far more vivid than the ones that we can actually see on TV these days.

Can you remember the secret messages? Only those that drank their Ovaltine and had sent one foil seal and 10-cents in coin for the secret decoder knew the meaning of the communique from Orphan Annie or Punjab. No amount of parental persuasion could get us to the table until every last word had been deciphered.

In 1937 and 1938, the decoders were at their peak. It was a most popular item. One correspondent has submitted two different — both from the ageless Orphan Annie. He asks if any of our readers know of others. The pieces are scarce because of their expendable nature. No doubt, children tired of them or the pins became worn and broken and were discarded. They command a premium in this day of collecting collectibles. A classification will be sent to any interested person.

Shown here is a copy of the magazine sent young listeners who wrote in for the secret decoders. You will note from one of the pages that ROA stands for Radio Orphan Annie, and SS for Secret Society.

numbered 1 through 26. Through the holes on the stationary piece is the alphabet, A through Z scrambled; in center ROA through which passes two keys; S at top; S at bottom.

Reverse: blank with pin mounting.

Metal: brass. Size: 29 x 30.5 (46mm x 48.6mm). Issued: 1937. Rarity: 6.

Obverse: at top 1938; star in background with movable piece; two holes through right side; the alphabet, A through Z scrambled; the right hole numbers 1 through 26; above center two crossed keys; below ROA; below SS. The alphabet side actuated by turning movable piece; the numbers by two tips on center movable piece. There are two movable discs.

Reverse: center movable disc with numbers 1 through 26; the outside movable piece has twenty-six embossed and a tip pointing to numbers on center disc. The outside disc has a pin mounting.

Metal: brass. Size 28 (44.6mm). Issued: 1938. Rarity: 6.

Both pieces are decoders obtained as a premium from Ovaltine. The OA stands for Orphan Annie. What the R means is not clear to the junior member who submitted these pieces. SS no doubt means Secret Service.

Johnny Tremain

Today's premiums lack the imagination of the prior generation, but just the same, collectible items are being issued. A recent example was submitted by Alfred Sander, ANA-11847. He brought to our attention a patriotic series of plastic tokens that was used by Armour & Company, Chicago, Ill. One token was enclosed in each package of Armour Star Franks (13 million in all). The promotion was tied in with the release of Walt Disney Productions' motion picture, Johnny Tremain.

LATE WORLD COIN NEWS

United Nations

Coin Bell

The fourth stamp in "Art at the United Nations" series is a reproduction of the Peace Bell presented to the United Nations in 1954 by the United Nations Association of Japan in the name of the people of Nippon. The bell was cast from coins donated by the delegates from sixty nations participating in the 13th General Conference of United Nations Associations held in Paris in 1951. The bell is housed in a typically Japanese structure, like a Shinto shrine, made of cypress wood. The inscription on the bell reads, "Long Live Absolute World Peace."

The bell is presently on loan to the United Nations Association of Japan and is being exhibited at the United Nations Pavilion at the World Exposition in Osaka, Japan. Like the peace that it symbolizes a substitute hangs in its place during its absence from U.N. headquarters.

The stamp is being issued in two denominations, 6-cents and 25-cents. Because of the fact that the bell is made from coins, it captures the imagination of collectors. A first-day cover was prepared by Dottie Dow of Phoenix, Arizona, that included an elongated 1970 cent with the design of the shrine embossed on one side. Further details on this collector's item can be obtained by writing Dottie Dow, Box 5238, Phoenix, Ar. 85010.

The Flowers Are Ready

Pierre Dehaye, director of the Paris Mint, has announced that orders for the 1970 "fleur de coin" sets are now being taken. Coin clubs, associations and specialized firms may obtain special terms for orders of 50 or more sets.

The eight-coin sets include the 10-franc silver coin of the familiar Hercules group, a new 5-franc nickel clad cupro-nickel coin of the "Sower" type and six minor coins. These are classed as "fleur de coin" quality (flower of the die), and are sold on a subscription basis at $9.00 per set.

The coins making up these sets are struck with new, polished dies, at reduced rates, apart from the coins of general circulation, on selected blanks that have been treated for brilliance. Each "fleur de coin" set is packaged in a protecting plastic case, placed in a blue-grey cardboard box bearing a band of the national colors, and decorated with the gold seal of the old corporation of minters of the Paris Mint.

The $9 price includes all charges, postage by registered surface mail. Orders may be placed now through September 30. However, the mint reserves the right to reduce or refuse orders if the orders exceed production capabilities (familiar words). Deliveries are expected to begin around June 15, 1970.

Orders are to be accompanied by the proper amount in the form of a certified bank check, money order or postal transfer made payable to: M. l'Agent Comptable de la Monnaie, 11 quai de Conti, Paris VI, France (account no. 9063-38 Paris).

San Francisco Honored For Record Handling

Director of the Mint, Mrs. Mary T. Brooks, recently praised the San Francisco Assay Office employees as she presented them with an honor award which read, "In recognition and appreciation of their outstanding contribution in the public interest by their highly efficient processing of the 1970 proof coin set orders."

To John F. Brekle, officer in charge, Mrs. Brooks added, "I am extremely proud of the San Francisco Mint employees who have contributed so much to the tremendously successful handling of the large volume of 1970 proof coin set orders. Their efficient processing of these orders has made it possible for the mint to greatly improve its services to the public and to give much wider distribution of its limited production of these highly desirable coins to over 800,000 collectors as compared with only about 200,000 in 1969. We will continue to improve and expand the mint's services to the public."

In addition to producing and distributing proof coin sets, the San Francisco Assay Office assembles and distributes uncirculated coin sets, and supplements the production of the Philadelphia and Denver mints of coins for circulation. This facility also handles a variety of activities relating to gold and silver bullion.

The San Francisco Assay Office has 470 employees. During 1969 they produced over 2.9 million proof coin sets, 3.3 million uncirculated coin sets, as well as 544.4 million cents and 120.2 million nickels for circulation. They also produced more than 1 billion 1, 5, 10 and 25 cent planchets for the Denver Mint, and coins for several foreign governments.

Here and There

Kraus Comments

Ernst Kraus, our erstwhile columnist who keeps tabs on new and recent issues throughout the world, has garnered the following little tidbits of numismatic information from his correspondents.

United Arab Republic — Egyptian authorities are recalling all of the one-half million, 1 pound, 1970, 1000th anniversary Al Azhar commemoratives. These are to be remelted as there is a grave error in the Islamic date. Correct dates are 1389 and 1391AH, not 1359 and 1361AH that now appears on the coins. The Gregorian dates on the coins are correct.

Italy — The 20-lire with plain edge, as reported in the January 1970 issue of The Numismatist was changed from a milled edge because of a price increase of titanium. The Italian government decided to replace the precious metal in the alloy of the 20-lire coin with nickel and to distinguish the issue by substituting a plain edge.

Austria — The 1970 50 schilling commemorative coin will be of silver and mark an anniversary of Innsbruck University. The 25 schilling piece will also be of silver composition and honor Franz Lehar the famous composer.

TAURUS

April 22 - May 20

Taureans are recognized for the skills necessary to be good businessmen and businesswomen in the fields of money — banking, finance and numismatics.

Again we turn to the French Mint for an issue with zodiacal significance. The medal of Albert Decaris, a sculptor of the current French school, by Raymond Delamarre features Decaris' own work on the reverse. Shown is Taurus, his own sign, charging through Libra, the sign of his wife. Sculptor's tools spill forth. The sculptor could be alluding to his own artistic temperament. Struck in both silver and bronze, size is 72mm.

Notes & Queries

Postal Strike Delays

Schulman Auction

Part IV of the Professor T. O. Mabbott Collection sale and Part III of Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach's collection auction, both conducted by Hans M. F. Schulman, were postponed because of the New York postal strike last month. The sale, originally scheduled for April 13 through 15 at the Schulman Gallery, has now been rescheduled for May 26 through 28 at the galleries which are located at 25 W. 45th St., New York City. This is just one of the many sales and inconveniences caused by the mail strike.

Restrictions on other than first class mail continued long after the postal strike and delayed delivery of The Numismatist to the New York area for at least ten days after normal delivery could have been expected.

Changing Faces

Daniel Fearon has completed his year at Parke-Bernet Galleries of New York and is returning to Sotheby & Company in London. His position in New York is being taken by Beth Weingast, who for the last year has been in training at Sotheby's. She received her BA in French and History at Rutgers, and her masters in Archaeology at Boston.

The next Parke-Bernet sale is a major auction of Canadian coins, tokens, paper money, war medals, commemorative and Indian peace medals, to be held by Sotheby & Co. (Canada) Ltd., on May 26. Also, this month, will be Part V of the Gutman Collection, which will include many gold Renaissance and other early European medals. This sale will be handled by the New York office.

Harry C. Bartley
Tracy L. Turner, Jr.

Milo Garside
John A. Zurine

Harry C. Bartley

Funeral services were held recently for Harry C. Bartley, 63, of Pittsburgh, Pa., a founder and charter member of the American Vecturists Association, The Pennsylvania Trolley Museum Society and The Pittsburgh District Token Collectors Club.

Mr. Bartley, a long time collector of coins, tokens and medals had specialized for many years in the transportation token collecting field of numismatics. He held membership in the Western Pennsylvania Numismatic Society, The Pittsburgh Numismatic Society, and the Economy Coin Club.

He had been selected for honor by the AVA and had received a gold award for his service and contributions to his fellow members of the Pittsburgh Numismatic Society. He had also been the recipient of many ANA Educational Awards for his excellent talks before many local area clubs.

Besides his wife, Cleora Redlinger, he is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Laura E. Stewart, one brother, Robert C. Bartley and one grandson, Jimmie Stewart. — RB.

Milo Garside ANA 35036

Word has just been received of the passing of Milo Garside, 78, in Walnut Ridge, Arkansas, on June 29, 1969. Formerly of St. Louis, Mo., Mr. Garside was a retired electrical engineer.

He was a former advisor for the Young Coin Collectors of Arkansas and helped establish the rules for the Debbie Jane Gould Memorial Award for juniors. He served as a judge for this prize since its establishment.

A member of the Arkansas Numismatic Society, he specialized in U.S. cents. There are no known survivors. — HL.

Tracy L. Turner, Jr. ANA 9330

Tracy L. Turner Jr., formerly of Chicago, died February 20 in a Vero Beach, Fla., hospital. Reportedly a victim of cancer, he was 66 years of age.

Mr. Turner operated a real estate business in Vero Beach since leaving Chicago in 1952. He was a member of a Chicago family which was prominent there for four generations, and was a partner in two investment banking firms. He was a member of the Chicago Board of Trade, the Midwest Stock Exchange and of many Chicago clubs and societies.

As a numismatist, Mr. Turner collected gold coins principally and was an active member (no. 394) of the Chicago Coin Club for many years. Survivors include his widow, Rosemary, a daughter, three brothers and five grandchildren. — GBS.

John A. Zurine ANA 27548

John A. Zurine, 74, Simpson, Pa., passed away recently after a short illness. Mr. Zurine, who served as tax collector for Fells Township for 34 years, retired this year. He was a well-known coin dealer and operated a coin shop in Simpson. He was one of the founders and first president of the Carbondale Simpson Numismatic Club and president of the Narrowsburg (N. Y.) Coin Club.

Mr. Zurine was also well-known in sporting circles having managed the Simpson Athletic Club of the county league and owned and managed the Simpson Collegians basketball team.

He was also a beer distributor for six years and prior to that was an employee of the former Fell Brewing Plant for 22 years.

Surviving are his wife, Sophia, three brothers and three sisters. — JS.

ANA COLLECTION INSURANCE IN FORCE!

The ANA "All-Risk" Collection Insurance Plan became effective April 15, 1970. Over 1,000 ANA members enrolled in the plan from all 50 states. Because of the overwhelming response, the insurance company has agreed to extend the Charter Enrollment Period until May 31, 1970. This will be the last chance to be a charter member of the ANA insurance program.

DISPLAY ADVERTISING RATES

EFFECTIVE APRIL 5, 1968

One-eighth page	$15.00
One-quarter page	25.00
One-half page	47.50
One page	90.00

Color Available — Write for Specifics

The double center pages, inside and back cover pages are available on contract, prices on request. Contract advertisers enjoy the following discounts: 3 months, 2%; 6 mos., 5%; 1 year, 10%.

ADVERTISERS PLEASE NOTE

All correspondence relating to advertising should be addressed to Advertising Dept., The Numismatist, P.O. Box 2366, Colorado Springs, Colo. 80901. Make all remittances payable to American Numismatic Association.

DEADLINE: Copy must be received by the 5th of the month to insure insertion in the following month's issue. All advertising copy must be typed.

MECHANICAL REQUIREMENTS: Full page, 28½ x 45 picas; half pages may be either vertical or horizontal in format. Single column width, 13½ picas. Halftone engravings should be 110 line screen, mounted. Mats and stereos unacceptable. Position may be requested but cannot be guaranteed.

CIRCULATION: 27,000. No advertising agency commission granted. No discounts other than contract rates.

ADVERTISERS PLEASE NOTE

OTHER REQUIREMENTS: No mail bid sale listings nor ads offering lay-aways accepted. No ads accepted from minors. All ads must have numismatic significance. When advertising gold for sale, the following must be inserted in the ad, "All gold coins advertised are legally held."

CONTRACTS: Available for three, six and twelve consecutive month periods, at 2, 5 and 10 percent discounts respectively when contract requirements are fulfilled. In lieu of contract, reduced rates are granted only upon total advance payment for the period desired. Cancelled contracts will be rebilled at the next applicable rate. If new copy has not been received by the 5th of the month, the previous month's ad will be repeated.

REFERENCES: All advertisers are required to submit banking and trade references when advertising for the first time. Advertisers must be, or have one responsible member of their company, a member of ANA.

COPY: Ad copy must be typed on paper of good quality, preferably 8½ x 11", and be easily readable, and double spaced. Ad copy should be on separate sheets and never in the body of a letter of transmittal. Trade names may be used, but, except for the name of corporations, the name of the responsible person of the firm must also appear unless such person is known to the advertising manager in which case the name will be kept on file.

There will be an extra charge for heavy composition.

ILLUSTRATIONS: All cuts to be provided by the advertiser. When absolutely necessary engravings can be made from furnished photographs and advertiser will be billed at national rates.

* * *

The advertising manager has on file the names and addresses of all advertisers. Any complaints or requests for information regarding advertisers should be referred to the advertising manager. The right to edit copy, to require payment in advance, and to decline any advertisement is specifically reserved.

ANA #6123

NOTICE OF CHANGE OF AUCTION SALE DATE

Due to the Recent Postal Strike
THE PUBLIC & MAIL BID AUCTION SALE of
The Frederick S. Knobloch Collection of Greek Coins

originally scheduled for April 29, 30, 1970

WILL NOW TAKE PLACE
JUNE 10, 11, 1970

The Frederick S. Knobloch Collection consists of 46 Gold and Electrum and 626 Silver and Bronze coins, and is the largest collection of quality Greek coins offered in the U.S.A. for sale in the last few decades. It was formed by Frederick S. Knobloch, a collector and dealer of great renown. For the most part this collection was assembled through the years using the finest specimens which Mr. Knobloch encountered.

The collection is remarkable from two points of view. First it covers geographically the whole Greek World, from Spain till Bactria and from Egypt to Mauretania. There are coins from Cities which are lesser known to collectors and many coins seem to be unpublished.

But it is the high standard of preservation of this collection which makes it important, some of the coins having been purchased from Dr. Jacob Hirsch's private cabinet. There are superb series of 25 Tarentian didrachms. Tetradrachms of Agrigentum, Gela, Messana, Leontini and about 25 Tetradrachms of Syracuse, many of them in gem condition. There is the rare Drachm of Athens from the 6th century, known as "Wappenmunz", an Archaic Tetradrachm and 9 others, all in choice condition.

A selected series of Roma-Alexandrian coins include 4 Bronzes of Antinous and many rarities. The large issues are represented by a magnificent Dekadrachm of Carthage.

The excessively rare gold stater showing a ship of the tribe Menapii is the highlight of the Gallic series. There is a gold Distater and 11 Staters of Alexander the Great, and several rare Electrum coins of Cyzicus.

In addition to the Knobloch Collection, our sale will include a small but prominent collection of the late Mr. Kenneth C. Richmond. It consists of only 4 Gold, 26 Silver, and 3 Bronze coins, but there is hardly a coin which would not be desirable for the most sophisticated collections. There is one of the finest artistic Greek coins, the Tetradrachm of Aenus, showing facing head of Hermes, in Extremely Fine condition, another Tetradrachm with facing head of Helios, of Rhodus almost Uncirculated, and many other Uncirculated Tetradrachms and Staters.

3rd edition Current Coins of the World!

When Current Coins of the World by R. S. Yeoman was first published several years ago it was warmly received by collectors because it filled a pressing need with authority. It was immediately accepted as the standard reference.

It had hardly settled in its rightful place on the bookshelf, however, when rapid world changes made another edition a necessity. And now the definitive 3rd edition has appeared. All new issues have been included, and worldwide coin valuations since 1945 have been updated.

Popular interest has prompted two additional sections: modern proof sets and a special listing of controversial issues and those of uncertain status.

Society Certified Professional Numismatists

... is purely a coin dealers group of professionals, who are known and recognized for their long and dedicated services, with tested ability in this field of commercial numismatics, who have served the hobby with DIGNITY and HONOR, some for 20 to 50 years of continuous service.

The majority of our members WERE and a few ARE members with other professional groups, who have helped write their constitutions and by-laws. This SOCIETY is UNIQUE in the field of professional numismatics. It is a co-operative group, without elected officers, without a constitution, without by-laws. From previous association with other professional groups, each member himself becomes HIS CODE OF HONOR, and can only be accepted as a member when their application is sworn and signed by a Notary Public. The seal of our SOCIETY represents "DIGNITY and HONOR", and so recognized throughout the entire numismatic world.

Membership in this SOCIETY is approved by a COUNCIL of DISTINGUISHED COLLECTORS, who advise and guide the SOCIETY. This announcement is a guideline for the collectors seeking to be served with DIGNITY and HONOR by the following members. You are always welcomed to visit and contact them.

Do you have choice rare coins for sale?

WE WANT TO BUY!

To build our stock and to fill our customers' want lists we URGENTLY want to buy choice U. S. coins. Our large volume of sales makes it possible for us to operate on a low overhead resulting in a higher offer for your coins.

Over the years it has been our pleasure to have handled many of the finest collections to be sold in America and Europe—including nearly every rarity in the Guidebook. But, you don't have to have one of the finest collections in existence or have great rarities to sell to us. On the contrary, we're receptive to any individual coins worth $10 each or more.

Below we give a want list of the items we are seeking. If you have coins ON THIS LIST you may ship them to us by insured or registered mail. Q. David Bowers of our staff will personally make you an offer for them. If our offer is accepted your payment in full will be sent immediately. If you say "no," then the coins will be returned at our expense. It may interest you to know that over 90% of the offers we make are accepted. We are SERIOUS BUYERS OF QUALITY MATERIAL.

Thinking of selling? Whether you have $50 worth of coins or $500,000 worth, think of Hathaway and Bowers Galleries, Inc. You'll like the way we do business. Check over the list of items we need. Then ship us a package of coins for our top cash offer. We both lose if you go elsewhere. Over the years we have purchased millions of dollars worth of coins from collectors such as yourself.

Wanted For Immediate Cash — The Following Coins:

U. S. COLONIAL COINS: Anything and everything in the colonial field—from the inexpensive common varieties of Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut, Vermont, and New York state coins to the pieces honoring President George Washington to the great rarities. If it catalogues $10 or more in the Guidebook, and most colonials do, we're interested in buying it!

U. S. HALF CENTS: Any half cents worth $10 each or more—including any date in EF or better condition as well as the early dates (1793, 1794, 1795, 1796, 1797, 1802) in ANY condition. We're always interested in augmenting our stock of the great Proof rarities of 1831, 1836, 1840 to 1848, and 1849 also.

U. S. LARGE CENTS: Any large cents worth $10 or more; singles as well as partial or complete runs of dates. All dates 1793 to 1799 inclusive are wanted in any condition as are the rare dates such as 1804, 1809, 1823 and 1857. We'll pay full Guidebook or more for any gem Uncirculated (please: no "processed" or artificially colored coins—sell them back to the place you bought them instead!) large cents.

U. S. INDIAN CENTS; LINCOLN CENTS: All flying eagle cents wanted in Fine to Proof condition; 1856 flying eagle wanted in all grades Good to Proof. Any Indian cent, Good to Proof, wanted with an individual value of $10 or more. Especially want to buy Uncirculated (truly, not artificially "processed") and Proof cents of ALL dates to fill our diminishing stock. "S" mints in all grades.

TWO CENT PIECES; THREE CENT PIECES: Any single coins Good or better worth $10 each or more wanted. Also want partial or complete sets EF to Proof.

NICKELS: Any nickels 1866 to 1934 worth $10 each or more WANTED. Especially want EF to Proof partial or complete sets of Shield, Liberty, and Buffalo series.

HALF DIMES: All half dimes 1794-1805 wanted in ANY grade Good to Uncirculated. Will pay full Guidebook for any GEM Uncirculated coin in this range. Half dimes 1829 to 1873 wanted in VF to Proof condition—all dates and mints.

DIMES: All dimes 1796-1837 wanted in Good to Uncirculated. Liberty seated issues worth $10 per coin or more wanted. And, all Unc. and Proof Liberty seated issues. Barber dimes: All EF to Proof coins; others with individual values of $10 each or more.

TWENTY CENT PIECES: All dates and mints 1875 to 1878 inclusive in all grades. Good to Proof. Can use two pieces of 1876-CC as well (can one of our readers supply?).

QUARTERS: All dates 1796 to 1838 wanted in Good to Uncirculated condition. Liberty seated issues valued at $10 or more, or any date or mint in EF to Proof condition. Barber quarters: Any coin worth $10 or more; any EF to Proof grade coin. Liberty standing quarters: All issues worth $10 each or more, any issues in EF to Uncirculated condition. Washington quarters: 1932 to 1939 Uncirculated only.

UNITED STATES RARITIES

We present an outstanding selection of U. S. rarities. Prices include postage and handling. Any item not 100% satisfactory for any reason may be returned within 7 days for an instant cash refund. No explanation is necessary. All coins are absolutely guaranteed genuine. California residents add 5% state tax or furnish resale permit. You may call collect to reserve any order for $200.00 or more.

It has been our pleasure to have supplied choice American coins to leading collectors and dealers everywhere. It would be our pleasure to serve you. You'll like our accurate grading and excellent value for the money. Try us once, and you'll become a steady customer.

PLEASE INCLUDE AN INVOICE AND INSURE OR REGISTER ALL COINS SENT TO US. WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO RETURN ANY COINS NOT UP TO OUR STANDARDS OF GRADING AND TO LIMIT QUANTITIES OR TO CHANGE PRICES. THIS LIST IS EFFECTIVE FEBRUARY 5, 1970 AND CANCELS ALL PREVIOUS OFFERS TO BUY COINS.

We will welcome your offers on all other United States coins. We are interested in buying almost any better grade single coins, completed sets, Mint sets, Proof sets, scarce early type material, Gold coins, Broken Bank Notes, Colonial Currency, most used rolls, Uncirculated rolls before 1956 and numerous other items. Send a list of what you want to sell with your prices or for our offers. If you are sending a list for our offer please leave room for us to price the items which we can use. We will price the list and return to you after making a photo-copy for our records. While we can handle lots of almost any size, up to and including complete collections and estates, we prefer not to buy any lot worth less than $50.00 unless it is just a few pieces of better coins. Bulk lots of very common material cost too much to sort and handle.

HIGH GRADE COIN CABINETS

In accordance with our policy to offer coin collectors the largest variety of hi-grade accessories at lowest prices, we take pride in presenting a select group of durable coin cabinets. Each of the following fulfill the demand for an efficient coin filing system housed in an attractive manner, to please even the most discriminating collector. Most cabinets large enough to hold a thousand coins usually cost $30.00 and upward. Now, however, reasonably priced cabinets are within the reach of every collector and there is no further need to house a coin collection in makeshift containers. Get the maximum enjoyment from your collection with a good coin cabinet.

Eliminate The Middle Man SELL YOUR COINS DIRECT TO ME

WHY?

Because I have an immediate sale for almost any type of Numismatic Material... whether rare gold or common bags and rolls. Chances are, if you sold your coins to almost anyone else in the past five years, all, or at least part of them, ended up in my hands here in Dallas, Texas.

WHY?

Because my mailing list, made up solely of established customers, numbers over 150,000 active buyers. This represents the largest single buying force in Numismatics today. If you decide to sell, write me, or better yet call me. If your collection merits, I, or a member of my experienced staff can be in your city within 24 hours. In any case you will receive a prompt and courteous reply to your inquiry. Perhaps you haven't yet heard of us and there's a valid reason. I have built the largest Retail Coin Business in the World by placing advertisements in national publications... TV Guide, House and Garden, Better Homes and Gardens, Popular Science, Sports Afield and a dozen other magazines... rather than in numismatic periodicals, hoping to induce others to take up the hobby you and I enjoy so much.

If you have numismatic material for sale, please contact me. This is the best time of all!

CASH ADVANCE

THAT'S RIGHT ! ! ! ! We will advance a percentage of the fair retail value of your collection immediately upon receipt. Please send inventory first — do not send coins until you hear from us. We will then sell your collection at one of our forthcoming auction sales and you will receive your final settlement within 30 days after the sale. Our commission rates are always reasonable.

During the time that your coins are in our possession they are stored in our protected and insured vaults. When you receive your advance check, if for any reason you are not satisfied with the amount of the check, just return it and your coins will be returned postpaid.

In many cases our advance will be almost equal to others offer of outright purchase.

If you are not currently on our mailing list, just drop us a postcard with your full name and address and we will place your name on our catalogue mailing list.

REMEMBER — It is not too late to have your collection included in our next outstanding auction sale.

OUR SALES ARE USUALLY HELD IN THE PARKER HOUSE

We are always in need of desirable numismatic material and will be happy to travel anywhere in the world to acquire it — either for auction or for outright purchase provided the value of the material warrants it.

NO COLLECTION IS TOO LARGE — We will furnish bank references upon request.

Preserve Today's Treasures For Tomorrow

Retard Tarnish From These 3 Major Sources

Handling, even with greatest care, leaves silver-blackening acids on coin and medal surfaces.

Atmospheric impurities can quickly darken seemingly well-protected pieces.

Storage containers that seem "safe" — often contain tarnish-producing elements.

Double View Drawers and Cabinets combine the preservation techniques employed universally in Museums with the traditional means of storing valuable numismatic material . . . adding the completely new ingredient of NO-TOUCH TOTAL VISUAL ENJOYMENT of Obverse and Reverse designs.

THE NUMISMATIST

BU LINCOLN MEMORIAL ROLL SET

1959-1970-PDS Inclusive, 24 Rolls

$23.50

Delivered anywhere in Continental U.S.

Seldom do you find the Lincoln Memorial Cents advertised as a complete roll set. Several of the rolls, particularly after 1964 are already scarce. We can think of no finer investment at this time. Remember, you are getting back $12.00 face value and net cost to you is less than 2c per BU coin. All rolls sent bank wrapped recently from mint sealed bags.

1970-S LARGE AND SMALL DATE CENTS

Gordian III, Roman Emperor, A.D. 238-244

Gordian III, at the early age of about 13 years, was proclaimed emperor of Rome in the year A. D. 238, the sixth to hold this title during that turbulent year, and reigned until deposed and murdered in A. D. 244 due to treachery on the part of M. Julius Philippus, the praetorian prefect.

The following twelve silver denarii represent each type of the regular issue struck for Gordian III. Each piece has the obverse legend "IMP. GORDIANVS PIVS FEL. AVG.", with emperors bust, laureate, draped and cuirassed to right; the reverse legend and subject is as noted for each piece listed. Each coin offered is a carefully graded VF. Should higher grade coins be desired please write.

THE PAEONIAN HOARD OF GREEK SILVER COINS

Obverse. Laureate head of Apollo right.

Rev. Paeonian cavalryman spearing fallen foot soldier.

These silver tetradrachms were recently excavated in Northern Macedonia. They were struck by King Patraos of Paeonia in Upper Macedonia c. 340-315 B.C. All specimens have small chisel cuts usually on the reverse, made by ancient money changers and bankers to ascertain the purity of their silver content. Considered rare, a VF/F specimen is priced at $72.00 in the 1965 edition of Seaby's "GREEK COINS." This is an unusual opportunity to own a large Greek silver coin, from a hoard, at a very modest price.

The size, 8" x 14" is perfect to place into the safety box! BVD HOLDERS are made to hold series that have been completed, so once you place your set in the holder, you need never reopen it. This adds to the permanence of your unit as the holders do NOT BECOME OBSOLETE.

Each holder is designed to serve as a display case with symmetrical lettering and overall compatible appearance. They are available in Black, White, Red, Green or Blue and fully imprinted to identify each set.

Among the current titles in stock are Lincolns dating from 1909-1934-D, 1935-1958-D, the Buffalo Nickel, Mercury Dime, Franklin, Walking Liberty, Commemoratives, Peace and Morgan Dollar Holders.

Our BVD holders protect against "underwear," over wear and any kind of wear. They give secure protection against fingerprints, blemishes and if you place one in a BANK VAULT DRAWER you have added security from "sticky" moisture in the air . . . and "sticky fingers".

THE "OLD TIMER" in "Modern Foreign"

If you collect foreign coins, you will find many interesting and desirable ones in my large annual stock list and regular monthly lists. My specialty is in minor foreign, with emphasis on new and recent issues. Prices are reasonable, and you can still form a decent collection without going "in hock."

If you are a dealer, please write on your letterhead for my large 24 page wholesale list recently released. Many dealers depend upon it and order regularly.

Why not write for these lists? You cannot lose more than the price of a stamp!

SPACE COIN A future rarity?

Lately, collectors have been offered a large variety of medals plus some fantasy coins of questionable numismatic merit, all celebrating space exploration. Noticed only by some alert collectors, there is one important 1967 coin. It stands alone in its class, destined perhaps to be in active demand by serious world collectors everywhere for generations to come. Issued with no phony claims of limited mintage and without all the usual nonsense of hotly promoted made-to-order coins, this is probably the first true "space coin". It could well be a "key" coin in most future topical collections. Part of the regular coinage of a major nation with a large share in space exploration, this little gem deserves more than passing attention. Years from now, collectors will be asking themselves why they overlooked this coin. A situation not hard to understand when we see how many people overlooked the 1950-D nickel and are now paying $10 or more for it.

Calling your attention to this coin is just another of JEDSON'S free services to collectors. If you cannot find this important issue with your regular dealer, it is available now from our stock (limit 5 per order, please):
RUSSIA, 10 Kopecks, 1967 (Y-136), Leningrad Mint, showing Soviet Sputnik in space flight on both obverse and reverse; each coin, postpaid, only Fifty Cents! (Of course, we do not expect to get rich with this type of sale but it will give us a chance to make a few new friends which is more than enough reward).

ILLUSTRATION of HONDURAS 10 PESO GOLD 1889 (Y29) WANTED. WE WILL PAY $10 for first glossy print ($5 for halftone) received of this coin.

We pay especially high prices for Mexico, Russia, Spanish Colonials, etc. We are proud to announce the new 1970 37th Edition 32 page Buyingbook on larger pages than previous, written by the foremost authority on Modern World Coins: Mr. Robert P. Harris, the author of Modern European Coins, Modern Latin American Coins, Modern British Commonwealth Coins and Pillars & Portraits (1st and 2nd editions.) The booklet is still 60c (refunded first transaction) and is being published in expanded fashion periodically, eventually to 64 or more pages — next 4 issues $2.00.

We used wording 60 TIMES FACE VALUE PAID for a currently circulating Free World Coin in our last adv which was a flop — everyone thought this was just a come-on for a one-in-a-million coin as our 1931S cent — NOT SO. The coin we want is a common date, in everyday use, minted just a few years ago, and we also pay 36 times face for others of the same type, and will take unlimited quantities — further, Americans are in the country.
